ADMINISTRATIVE APPOINTMENTS

Acting Dean-College of Education

January 2023-present

As of 2024-2025-The College of Education has over 3200 students, 110 faculty and 118 staff and an annual budget of approximately $25M including $9M annually of research expenditures. The college is comprised of seven departments with 20 undergraduate programs and 49 graduate programs. There are 15 centers, clinics, labs and other initiatives within the college.

Demonstrated Achievements (highlights):

- Teacher Education Programs (TEP) programs received 7 years of accreditation from AAQEP.
- Established a student advisory council that meets regularly with college leadership.
- Undergraduate enrollment increased by 23% from Fall 2022 to Fall 2024 and reaching record 4- and 5- year graduation rates (Spring 2024).
- Hosted the first Teacher Education Open House with nearly 300 participants from 15 counties and 5 states (Fall 2024)
- Invested non-recurring funds to extend the new Student Teacher Stipend Program for Kentucky residents to also include stipends for out-of-state students during their student teaching semester-this will be a significant recruiting tool for the college

- The college obtained the largest single donor commitment in the history of the college of $2M.
- Spear-headed new sustainable research initiatives within the college to increase extramural funding.

Associate Vice President for Research

August 2021-present

Assistant Vice President for Research

August 2020- July 2021

Started and lead the UNITE Research Priority Area which is a university-wide research priority initiative. With an annual $1M budget, UNITE provides programs to bring students, staff and faculty together to grow research focused on social justice, health disparities, education, and law and economics with an overarching theme of advancing inequities in the Commonwealth. UNITE holds faculty centric programming including annual networking events, writing days, training in grant writing, research pilot fund competitions, research consultations, annual research showcase, and a training/mentoring program for predoctoral (PhD) students. In addition to leading the UNITE RPA, most recently in this role, I have oversight for the centers and institutes and other RPAs within the office of the vice president for research.

Demonstrated Achievements (highlights):

- Established a research priority area from the beginning and as of January 2025 has 538 members representing faculty, staff, and students from across 18 colleges.
- Spear-headed competitive research funding initiatives and investments of over $1.8M in faculty research and scholarship support for both biomedical and humanities research.
- Started the UNITE predoctoral research scholars training program and invested over $1.5M in predoctoral research training support.

Director of Graduate Studies-EDP

July 2020-August 2021

The Director of Graduate Studies (DGS) plays a crucial role in supporting and guiding graduate students throughout their academic journey. The DGS serves as a key liaison between faculty, students, the department and The Graduate School by fostering a positive and supportive learning environment and ensuring compliance with key deadlines and documentation for exams and dissertations.

RESEARCH AGENDA

My research agenda has largely focused on health disparities broadly among women and Black adults across the lifespan. More specifically, as a licensed psychologist and certified lactation counselor my research focuses on mental health, drug use disorders, sexual health, and increasing positive breastfeeding outcomes. I have received funding for my research for over the past decade from the National Institutes of Health (NIH) and I am fortunate have a well-established team of research collaborators and talented graduate students in my research lab. Our work has been featured on several local news outlets and nationally on NBC News Now (please see links below).
